Press Release

Kimberly Buxton, President and CEO of Bellman's Portsmouth is pleased to announce the addition of Terry Riden who joins the staff as a Private Consultant and Diamond Specialist.

Terry Riden a native of Portsmouth has more than 30 years of experience in the jewelry industry and has worked for many local jewelers on the Seacoast including Scott's, Hannoush, Long's and Springer's Jewelers.

According to Kimberly Buxton, "We are excited to have Terry join our staff of private consultants. His education and experience as a graduate gemologist will serve our diamond clients well and compliment the boutique's expertise as a diamond engagement specialist".

The boutique shopping concept is one of the hottest trends in fine jewelry retailing. It reflects the sophisticated shopper's preference for personalized attention in an intimate setting featuring premier designer collections and custom styling.

According to Terry Riden, "I am excited about this opportunity to work for Kim in the boutique and I look forward to reconnecting and assisting my former clients as well as assisting new ones".

"The boutique accommodates clients during regular business hours, but caters to those whose lifestyle commands unique attention on a regular basis", says Buxton. For those clients, Buxton will arrange private consultations at the boutique at their convenience. "Our primary goal is to meet client's needs in a highly customized, personal manner".

Bellman's Portsmouth carries collections including but not limited to Alito, Amáli, Eli Jewels, Honora, Jose Hess, Scott Kay, Simon G and specializes in refurbished/pre-owned watches. Custom designs, appraisals and diamond education are specialties of the house.

For more information visit the boutique located at the corner of Market and Hanover Streets. Look for the black and red awning and take the elevator to the 4th floor. (P) 431-9050 (W) www.bellmansportsmouth.com
